Keep your prescription glasses close to the bridge (the part of the frame between each lens) under a slight flow of hot water. 2. Put a drop of dish detergent on a finger and gently massage both sides of each lens. Never use a cloth to rub stubborn particles! 3. Gently rinse the glasses under the flow of hot water. 4. If possible, leave the frames dried. Otherwise, a microfiber cloth should be used to gently dry eyeglass witnesses (do not use fabrics as they can leave residues in all the freshly cleaned specifications). Alternatively, you can also choose to buy disposable wipes designed specifically for optical use (not children's wipes) to take care of your glasses and design frames. Here are some other tips to take care of your glasses. First of all, regularly clean any make-up, sunscreen or body residue from lens and eye glass frames (as it can damage lens coatings and increase the risk of metal and plastic oxidation). Secondly, be careful not to leave the glasses exposed to direct sunlight - especially on the dashboard of a hot car - or in humid environments since they can cause the deformation of new frames. While these eyeglass care tips may seem a good sense, sometimes we forget and lose focus due to the hustle and bustle of modern life. Following these tips when it comes to cleaning your new prescription frames, you will be able to get the most out of online shopping glasses. Read more...
